

The Voxel Agents announce sneak-preview of next hit game for iPhone and iPod Touch

 14th October 2009 - Melbourne, Australia.

Just announced! 'Train Conductor' for iPhone: connect trains to their tracks in 4 iconic Australian locations, in day or night mode, and challenge the leaderboards in this innovative, addictive time-management game.

The latest title from The Voxel Agents places you as the greatest Station Master of the Golden Age of Steam. Working your way from outback train yards in Alice Springs and Cairns, to the bustling industrial lines in Sydney and Melbourne, you must connect tracks to ensure each train reaches it's proper destination, whilst avoiding disastrous collisions!

The Voxel Agents have advanced the genre popularised by games like Flight Control – Train Conductor introduces new gameplay twists, makes it easier to play on-the-go and provides an unlockable combo system, for endless hours of score-challenging – all in painterly 3D levels.

The Agents have cautioned, "be warned; our game testers are already highly addicted to Train Conductor!"

The game includes a complete parallel ghost world; all the levels you have achieved by day are haunted at night– but the Agents can't give all their secrets away, so watch this space for more details!
